Council voted to approve the motion with 10 votes in favor, 0 against, and 0 abstentions.
- IV. Special Presentations
Bruin Republicans Presentation
-Jonathan Cayton, chair of the Bruin Republicans, said that they would give a brief presentation. He said that their general purpose is to highlight a problem within MEChA. He said that one of MEChA's guiding documents, El Plán de Aztlán, promotes violence and the rights of Chicano/as over other races. He said that the UCLA chapter of MEChA is an upstanding group. He said that it is disturbing that this document is attached to the group. He said that they would like MEChA to distance themselves from that document.
-Matthew Knee, a member of the Bruin Republicans, said that in the efforts of the Bruin Republicans to shed light on this subject, many of their messages were lost. He said that this is not a campaign against Chicano/as. He said that it is a campaign against a particular document. He said that this document is part of MEChA's ideology. He said that they are calling for MEChA to renounce this document. He said that the document says that this country is not legitimate and that no Europeans belong here, in Aztlán (the Southwest).

- He said that MEChA, as a group, should be about helping people. He said that they should not accept a document that promotes violence.
- Elizabeth Alamillo, the chairwoman of MEChA, said that she was present to address these claims. She said that MEChA was formed in San Diego in 1969. She said that its purpose was to improve Chicano/a access to education. She said that it made a call for self-determination at a time when people were being killed in a communal struggle for equality. She said that Chicanos and Chicanas were here tonight to support them. She asked the Bruin Republicans to back up their claims of racism with evidence. She said that she finds it irresponsible to make these claims without approaching MEChA members first.
  - McKesey asked if the Bruin Republicans were asking USAC to adopt a resolution.
  - Cayton said that they were.
  - McKesey said that any resolution that comes before them must first have three council members as sponsors. She said that she would begin a speakers list.
  - Randolph Grant said that he saw the demonstration on Bruin Walk. He said that there were points that did concern him. He said that there is a crisis on the border at this moment. He said that border patrol agents are being shot and killed. He said that there are real concerns about returning Aztlán to Mexico.
  - Tom Hartman said that he had a factual matter to report. He said that Miguel Perez of Cal State Northridge MEChA has called for opposition groups to be quashed and expelled from Aztlán.
  - Eric Lopez said that he would like to clarify that this presentation deals with MEChA de UCLA and not Cal State Northridge. He said that MEChA de UCLA is an admirable organization. He said that they bring 1,200 students a year to a youth conference here on campus. He said that they work actively in the Student Retention Center. He asked what specific evidence there is against MEChA de UCLA, not MEChA's on other campuses.
  - Mariam Jukaku said that MEChA de UCLA has the full support of MSA. She said that, after 9/11, one of the only organizations that offered support to the Muslim population at UCLA was MEChA. She said that they offered security during their evening prayer. She said that MEChA has done many good things on the UCLA campus.
  - Chiang said that this seems to be a situation that would best be solved by a discussion between the two groups, rather than something Council should be asked to resolve.
  - Chris Moritz, a member of the Bruin Republicans, said that they have tried to talk to MEChA several times. He said that he was told today by a MEChA member that he was naturally an oppressor because he is white. He said that he thinks that MEChA de UCLA is a great organization, but that they need to renounce El Plán de Aztlán.
  - Gaulton said that this sets a bad precedent. He said that these groups should sit down and work things out. He said that this many people should never feel attacked at UCLA. He said that if Council is to do its job effectively it should not read about this sort of thing in the newspapers before it is presented to them. He said that Council should act as mediators, not riot police.
  - Lawson said that he agrees that the discussion should focus on MEChA de UCLA. He said that he went to the MEChA's website and looked at their constitution. He said that their constitution never mentions El Plán de Aztlán. He said that the Bruin Republicans should not base their arguments on a plan that does not affect this chapter.
  - Knee said that he is hearing a lot of equivocating about how MEChA is part of a national organization but does not follow the same documents. He said that these documents are accepted by the national organization. He said that the Bruin Republicans are just looking for MEChA de UCLA to say that they do not stand for the ideas put forth in El Plan de Aztlan.
  - A guest said that MEChA de UCLA is out in the community every day combating the ideas that the Bruin Republicans have put forward. She said that MEChA will not apologize for El Plán de Aztlán when it was people like the Bruin Republicans who made it necessary in the first place.

- Kozak said that USAC respects everyone's right to free speech but that the Bruin Republicans should do more research before making accusations such as these. She said that she feels that many of their comments are inaccurate.
- Yousef Tajsar said that even if MEChA de UCLA follows El Plán de Aztlán, it does not follow every word. He said that there are ideas in El Plán de Aztlán that are very real. He said that the ideals of the United States are based on a Constitution that was also racist at one time. He said that a large portion of society was relegated to the status of being only three-fifths of a citizen. He said that this presentation is ridiculous and a waste of time. He said that there are real issues affecting students, such as fee increases and decreases in financial aid., that Council Members, and all other UCLA students, should be dealing with.
- Palma/Saracho said that a couple of months ago, USAC wrote a certificate of appreciation to MEChA de UCLA for its contributions to the campus. He said that USAC has shown their support of MEChA.
- A recess was called at 8:12 pm, while the guests exited.
- Council reconvened at 8:18 pm.

On a related matter, she said that an application for the vacant General Representative 3 position has been made available, and that the deadline to apply is next Thursday. She said that the ARC will review all applicants that she forwards to them.
