III. Public Comments

-Marien is a fourth year Asian American studies major and is the internal vice president for Samahang Pilipino and I'm here to make a statement of support from Samahang Pilipino and we are here to show our support and communicate the passion we have for our culture and history. Filipinos are often a forgotten minority in the US and we do a lot of things that are very misunderstood. I want to urge you to take the time and really pay attention to what Kevin Casasola is saying for PAHM. You're students too and I want to encourage you to go out to events. Really pay attention to it because there's always so much going on. Its important that you learn about the history of Filipinos and US imperialism affected our communities and continues to affect our community.

-Alex is a third year psychobiology and assistance director of Samahang Pilipino education retention that tries to make Filipinos graduate. There is really relevant education and history of our community is important because it affects their mental health and academics and holistically. This affects qualitatively and quantitatively and the personal histories. I really encourage you all to take it in and have a new appreciation for our culture and how it affects our students.

-Jackie is a fourth year sociology major and I am Samahang Pilipino's president. Coming here as a first year I didn't know about my identity. This was my first time to be exposed what it means to be Filipino. Through this space I was able to learn about my identity and be comfortable in my skin and get involved in our culture and history.

-Jessica Cantalier is Samahang Pilipino's cultural coordinator. College is a time to explore identity and its important to me is my culture and being Filipino. I really encourage you all to be open minded and take in what is going to be presented and how that plays into how Filipinos work.

Rosen closes public comment at 7:07pm.

IV. Special Presentations

A. Pilipin*/Pilipin* American History Month

-Cassasola introduces himself as a third year stats major and Samahang Pilipino's external vice president. I want to welcome you all to Pilipino American history month. This is going to be interactive and I encourage you all to participate. What comes to mind when you think of Filipinos.

-Shao said baes

-Mata states lechon

-Cassasola brought some homemade lumpia and passed it in soy sauce.

-Kajikawa stated disaggregation of fi

-Hourdequin states her aunt is Filipino and a lot of yummy food.

-Cassasola stated appleb, Kehlani, Pacquiao, lumpia, swaggapino, Prince Yuko, jabbawockeez, and tinikiling.

"He who does not know how to look back at where he came from will never get to his destination"- Jose Rizal.

-Cassasola states Jose Rizal helped to incite revolution against the Spanish people during colonialization.

-Cassasola asks about William Kipling

-Siegel said he wrote the white man's burden

-Cassasola stated 300 years in the convent, 50 years in Hollywood. Back then the Spanish came and discovered the Philippines and decided to colonize. The 50 years in Hollywood with Jose Rizal incite the Philippines to revolt against the Spanish. The US comes in and colonizes us. There's a big variety for us and vary on the way we look and the way we talk like. We have a lot of Spanish roots and Malaysian roots and Chinese roots. If you ask us our last name, my last name means lonely house in Spanish.

-"Take up the white man's burden, send forth the best ye breed-, go send your sons to exile, to serve your captives needs, to wait in heavy harness on fluttered folk and wild, your new caught sullen peoples, half devil and half child Rudyard Kipling in 1889. He was talking about Filipinos.

When the Spanish people came to colonize us and then American came in and spotted us as "little brown brothers" and the short little brown Filipino and we are taken into custody and care of America. From President McKinley there's nothing left to do but take them all, educate the Filipinos, and uplift and civilize and Christianize them. We were seen as savage and less than human and posted as part of the World's Fair and displayed them like animals. There's strong history with Filipinos in US and Spain. To show the extent of colonization. We were colonized through education. A is for apple B is banana and that sort of system of education is placed on Philippines. Apples aren't native to the Philippines. This style of education instilled that the Philippines isn't that good but other countries aren't great. You want to be the US especially because of the colonization of education.

We have pinoy pioneers the Delano manongs coming into 1906-1934. This is where the US is booming and looking for cheap labor. We have these little brown brothers they don't like their own country so the first pinoyos come to the states were the Delano manongs. It means older brother in Ilikanow, and they come all alone no family and came to Hawaii and came to California. As you can see they weren't necessarily welcomed very strongly. It says positively no Filipinos allowed. How can you not want that? Throughout our time we have been known for trying to dress really well. After working they dress up and go out to town and go dancing. I really wanted to highlight that our history wasn't met with welcome. If you go to downtown LA in Belmont high school a lot of Filipinos were murdered. There was anti marriage law. Filipinos were forbidden from marrying other people. They weren't even allowed to have children or get married. A lot of the first generation manongs we grew up without having family. There's a short video about the Filipino workers.

-Cassasola states that Filipinos were the ones with the Mexican farmworkers started that movement. No one really knows the name of Larry Itilong that started the joint labor strike with Mexican farmworkers. They couldn't marry, they couldn't petition their families, but they weren't a lot. A lot of UCLA students reached out to the manongs and visited them and helped with them and helped become the children they couldn't have. Know history know self. Last year USAC made a resolution to support Larry Itilong day October 25 and work with Filipino organizations on and off again to restore heritage and stories of Pilipin@s and the establishment of Pilipino Studies underneath the Asian American studies minor. Our asks is to outreach for Pilipinx American History month. Attend any of the beautiful events we have. Really do right and support Filipino studies and remember the manongs on October 25th to Larry Itilong Day. Next week we are having a word on Wednesday on CAC.

-Cocroft asks if he can talk about the events coming up

-Cassasola says Word on Wednesday at CAC. At October 16 we are having a general meeting #2: Ka-Pahm-Ilya. On October 17 we're going to historic Filipino town. On October 26 it's PAHM festival on Wilson festival. On October 30 we are having our film festival on the reel, no lie.

-Kajikawa asks how to connect to Samahang to celebrate our one year anniversary and talk about the Pilipinx minor

-Cassasola states Angelique Taloyo is the academic coordinator and would be the forefront of the Pilipino minor.

-Starr says he was a linguistics major and asks the difference between the p and f

-Cassasola stated that colonization changed their language because F was imposed on our culture so we use P to reclaim it.

-Khan encourages all of them to roll deep every time, and they're amazing organizers and they're still at the event downstairs. My peer mentorship platform was inspired by their mentorship.

V. Appointments

A. Campus Programs Committee - Alexis Cervantes

-Hourdequin reads The Campus Programs Committee (CPC) is a subcommittee of the Programs Activities Board (PAB). Oversees funding regarding projects and programs of an educational and/or cultural interest directed at the student body or specific segments of the student body. Solicits student views on the nature and goals of campus programming and holds hearings to allocate funds for campus programs. Must attend a four-hour Orientation in early August, participate in CPC's six hearings which are held throughout the academic year, beginning in September, and attend Quarterly meetings. In addition, must sit on CPC Mini-Fund Committee for one quarter and attend their weekly hearings which are held from Week 2 to Week 8. The four undergrad members, three Regular and one Alternate, are appointed by the USAC President for a one year term, July through June. There is also a mandatory summer retreat.

-Hourdequin stated Cervantes received a 3-0-0 vote and is passionate about the meaning and the work of this fund.

-Rosen states these appointments are time sensitive and they have hearings very soon.

-Cervantes introduces himself as a third year polisci and econ major. I have gotten involved in alumni scholars and cultural affairs and saw the power on how it brought a voice to the students and impact them educationally and culturally. I love the common app and want to help.

-Dameron stated CPC one of the bodies that have the most funding deadlines and isn't utilized as much as others. How do you plan on increasing visibility of CPC.

-Cervantes wants to create more info sessions for students because they don't understand the process and when I was filling it out I myself didn't understand the process.

-Rafalian asks he makes the funding process easier.

-Cervantes states I want to make info sessions and give constructive criticism for those who don't get funded so they know how to plan their events.

-Chen asks what his time commitments are

-Cervantes states he works as the Academic Advancement Program and Cultural Affairs Commission and looked at it and I know my time commitments.

-Wong asks if he's familiar with the funding.

-Cervantes states yes he does he knows how to apply for it for Alumni Scholars Club

-Cervantes thanks everyone for their time and he wants to make a difference.

-Shao states she may be biased because Cervantes is in my office but his knowledge in funding is tremendous. He has helped other student organizations and fund DCT series and they didn't use all their money because they budget so well and give other series more money. He has been a mentor to be on funding.

-Helder states we have a very qualified candidate.

-Helder moves to approve Alexis Cervantes to Campus Programs Committee. Kajikawa seconds.

13-0-0 Alexis Cervantes has been approved.

B. Campus Programs Committee: Josh Montoya

0-3-0 vote of disapproval. He needs to understand the position more, tighten up language of access and retention, know what the mission of CPC is, how CPC is connected to cultural organizations and how it works.

-Montoya is a second year business econ major and I originate from West Covina California and I grew up in San Bernadino. Here at UCLA I decided to pursue my passion and picked up a theatre minor and I feel like the reason I had to do this was because I saw so many people back home be so passionate but not have the resources to be given. I wanted to take every resource and eventually give back to my community.

-Patil asks what experience do you have with funding if any.

-Montoya states he doesn't have any at UCLA, but he interns through his fraternity at Beverly Hills for Mosaic Ink and I'm part of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity and help him with planning and social chair.

-Helder asks him if he can describe what access and retention are and what events via the CPC to improve on both of those things.

-Montoya states access is being able to get to something or someone and understand it completely for what it is.

-Helder states specifically with respect to ucla.

-Montoya states attainment is to grasp an idea and commit yourself wholeheartedly. For retention it's the concept of being able to stick through something and stay there wholeheartedly.

-Helder asks how would you improve access and retention in your role as CPC

-Montoya stated he would be allocating the funds for academic/cultural and I know the target audience are all UCLA students and any potential students. What I can do to attain more students is more advertising and funding for those who are more than qualified for UCLA. I want to be by their sides and fund their programs and give back to the community at UCLA.

-Kajikawa asks about his knowledge about the cultural organizations, feel free to name a few.

-Montoya stated being a second year he wasn't able to expand to cultural events. I haven't been able to expand yet but I want to put my feet in and want to delve into cultural affairs. Everyone in my community couldn't go to this international skill that was all Filipino and white. Being one of the few latino people I was discriminated against heavily in leadership and I really want to take my opportunity and go into leadership and fight stigmatizations.

-Cocroft asks about his understanding of the structure of the committee.

-Montoya states CPC is a subcommittee of PAB and funding all cultural events and work with campus activities committee which works with us. The Programs Activities Board is one of the largest funding organizations and a part from that we know that CPC is in charge of cultural and education programs that UCLA wants to proceed.

-Dameron asks about fair funding

-Montoya states fair funding isn't equal funding. We need to take populous and divide it by the funding we have so funding is fair and not equal.

-Wong asks if he thinks there should be other factors besides number of people attending an event when talking about an event

-Montoya states we have to think about how big and prominent this event is and take that into consideration.

- Chen asks from your current understanding of CPC, could you describe the current state and what tangible improvements you make.
- Montoya states from what he researches is that they're a funding organization and I don't know anything pass that but I have opportunities to learn. I know that experience isn't the best but the passion and drive to commit yourself wholeheartedly is something i can dedicate to the council.
- Montoya thanks everyone for listening to him.
- Helder states he has a prohibited lack of institutional knowledge and I don't think this is a learn on the job type of job and one that you have to be prepared to take on and there is more preparation that needs to be done but his passion is commendable but perhaps not an attribute that distinguishes from more qualified candidates
- Khan states he has a lot of potential and I agree that he should get involved in bigger structures and organizations to see how student orgs need funding and best provide with them to work up to a position.
- Rosen states we have no other applicants and a push through SOLE to forward an appointment but I just want to keep you informed with process that go behind.
- Cocroft states he's well intentioned and passion for community. I don't think this is a right place to start and its important to have a deeper understanding of these issues to do the duties so I stand by the recommendation of ARC.
- Helder moves to vote on Montoya's appointment. Khan seconds.
- 0-13-0 Montoya is not approved.

C. CPC: Aman Adlakha

- Hourdequin states he received a 3-0-0 vote and had good ideas for following up but needs to be more informed. He sees this is as a learning opportunity, has desire to learn, wants to help underserved communities, sees the weight of this committee, but needs to be more knowledgeable.
- Aman introduces himself a 1st year Economic international student from New Delhi. I always wanted to be involved in student government and coming from an international background I really appreciate the diversity that exists in USA and be a part of a committee that accentuates that.
- Wong asks how would you ensure and facilitate transparency regarding the allocate process
- Adlakha states I see this as an opportunity to learn. I would make sure everyone had a fair chance to ensure funding and try my best to make the process very far.
- Cocroft asks how would you outreach to more groups to make sure they know how to use it?
- Adlakha really likes the outreach programs that CPC takes to help community college students and youth and to further outreach the programs through social media to get the word out.
- Khan asks about involvement with student orgs
- Adlakha states he's part of his floor government
- Dameron asks if someone asks what CPC is
- Adlakha states CPC is a main student fund that seeks to promote diversity.
- Geller states now that you're at a second week at UC campus can you talk about your study skills to take on this extracurricular activity

-Geller states it would be a challenge and one that I can manage quite effectively because I have a good balance of extracurricular and academics.

-Rafalian asks how it affects his time at UCLA.

-Adlakha states he really wants to be involved in student government and it'll be good to develop leadership skills and really dive into the diversity UCLA has.

-Adlakha thanks everyone for giving him the opportunity and I realize I'm not the most experienced but I see it as an opportunity to learn and cultivate leadership skills.

-Helder states being as early as his career he seems pretty well informed on what CPC is and what it is

-Shao states he's not the most experienced and he's young and has a lot of potential and growth. There was a lot of hard questions and increasing in transparency and inform more organizations. He stated he would personally go to the events and make sure they were used appropriately. For only being here 3 weeks that's a good answer.

-Khan enjoyed his enthusiasm and passion and being here for 3 weeks and floor government. As an international Indian student it's a unique perspective and with his identity and narrative I think it's really important he brings that kind of perspective while considering the actual personal attributes.

-Kajikawa moves to approve Aman Adlakha for CPC.

11-2-0 Aman Adlakha has been approved.

VI. Office and Member Reports

A. President – Rosen

-Rosen thanks everyone who attended the breakfast and I will be contacting those who are present to continue on those discussions to have a forum later on. Some people's recommendations is to do a meeting without administrators and without administrators. There's a lot of intersectionality that I noticed yesterday. Additionally I attended a lunch with Assembly member of Odonell and talked about the importance of education. He's from Long Beach and a staunch supporter of the UC. We talked about different ways to increase advocacy efforts at the state level. One thing particularly interesting is that the UC doesn't effectively portray all the research it does for the state to showcase all that we have for the state. I met an individual who works on expanding scholarship and looking to create a middle income scholarship. One of the most effective things is to say the difference in tuition from when they went to school to what it is today. It's an interesting point. Additionally I would be working with the Graduate student association president and wanted to work on like a mentorship program when there was a separation between us and them. A lot of the undergraduate issues are relevant to graduate students. He also wants to work with us to have a presentation with a new chancellor of diversity and equity and have a townhall to talk about efforts and processes and exactly what his office is doing. I look forward to continuing those efforts once we set a date for those townhalls.

-Hourdequin asks when you say GSA you say GSA and USAC

-Rosen says yes because there's an equivalent for Pres, IVP, EVP, and AAC.

-Chen states we got good news that UCOP funding for food security is coming through and $2,500 for USAC and our collaboration with you is coming through.

-Rosen states tomorrow she is meeting with Tony Sandoval to talk about how to access those funds and collaborate more so with USAC and CPO.

B. Internal Vice President – Hourdequin

-Hourdequin states USAC retreat is next week. I apologize for not sending out information but I will within the next few days so be on the lookout for logistics. The IVFellowship application is due this Friday and looking forward to having a new fellowship. They are some of the most enthusiastic and now the fellows are directors of the office and see the full circle of development. T-shirt design contest submissions will be open October 22nd the Thursday of week 4 and there will be an email sent out by ASUCLA. Transfer pride week is next week and the IVP office will coprogram with the transfer student representative. Last year we did transfer appreciation day to express our welcome to all transfers and nontraditional students and looking to do something similar. We are having a student group liaison training this Wednesday with SOLE. I printed out fliers that we passed at EAF. The back is SOOF. Spread this to people who are in your office and student organizations. Its really useful and I reference it a lot when im applying to different funds so if you need help check that out. Day of SOLE is October 16 next Friday and will be participating in table talks. The student group liasions will be present along with student group leaders in facilitating discussions about organizations and upcoming events and issues they face as an organization on how to collaborate this upcoming year. I heard from Myra Cevallos who is working with street lighting and an update is that shes my contact with bureau street lighting for upgrading the lights in Westwood. The good news is that Jasmine Shamooli from councilmember Karetz is now working on it to see some sort of change with awful lighting in Westwood. Campus safety week is week 4 so I will email you out the graphic so you can all look at that and see whats going on if you want to coprogram on anything let me know. Safety has taken on a whole new meaning these past couple of weeks. So I'm going to be looking into improving the safety of the apartments in Westwood. Safety shouldn't be a privilege, everyone should feel safe living in any apartment and im going to make it my personal mission to improve the safety of apartments at Westwood and the overall safety of people walking to and from campus.

C. External Vice President - Helder

-Helder had a moment to speak with Chancellor Block for yesterday's breakfast and joint advocacy and funding the UC and positive response for the near future that we get a chance to have an audience with a governor about the budget and the consequence and been with Keith Parker per usual and Nelson Peacock and governor relations. I would like to say we're so consumed by this council and it feels important all the time and I know sometimes im in my office from 8-7 to student government and Hourdequin stated there are things more important than what we're doing and to be kind to each other and don't know and express our love to those that we do should be our first priority. I talked with Lark Park about SB376 and learn more about that by Sunday. We're setting up meetings and met with Patrick O'Donnell and Senator Ben Allen to discuss upcoming priorities and legislation we are going to introduce. We hope to facilitate some type of closed door discussion and honest dialogue. We also had a conversation with Senator Lamar Alexander from Tennessee who singlehandedly shutdown the Perkins Loans program. This is actually really important. It's a federal subsidized loan for low income students that was around since 1958 and the sunsetted on October 1st and now there is a gaping hole in the loan program. Our financial aid director Ron Johnson because students did not physically pick up their check are legally bound to return this money because the senate didn't act on Perkins loan. We are going to be spending a lot of time in Washington DC because this is an enormous gap in the aids process for students that came to our university who now have that call into question. The federal advocacy program came at a fortuitous time and any role that anyone wants to play should keep me updated.

D. General Representative 2 –Khan

-Khan states there's a conference right now for mental illness for communities of color and have a lot of positive feedback and do a follow up event and see what it means to improve on. Khan states she wants to continue kosher options to see affordable options to see any progress that we made. My campus is working on their mentorship program the mentorship program is inspired by Samahang Pilipino because we do have an amazing mentorship program and they're all in touch with grand bigs and grand littles. I never had that type of mentorship program and MSA didn't have one. The campus engagement staff is to link the academic and community involvement. Finally, Leontine and her are having a joint retreat and we have same staff and we are going to Lake Arrowhead. Finally I have been in touch with Incarcerated Youth Tutorial project and want to have a healing space because of police brutality issues especially the initiative's and incarcerated youth its important to find that healing space because there have been educational workshops and protests. Khan asks how we can help and we will definitely be involved.

D. Academic Affairs Commissioner – Kajikawa

-Kajikawa states he met with Mike Nguyen of Institute of Globalization and one way to move forward is to partner up with the great research specifically with the graduate school of education. I want to partner up with them and student groups to address the disaggregation of Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders and AAPI's and how that may affect academic success. This is very encouraging and trying to schedule more meetings especially with API student groups. He had a meeting with Bruin consent coalition and Lea Estrada, and the chief administrator officer of Academic Senate. It was a continuation of last year to put CAPS on syllabi and promised undergraduate students to put it on ccle when logging on during week 1 its not up there. We went to talk to them and we would get there. We've been looking at partnering up with SWC and creating some symposium for mental health for professors in regards to UCOP and title ix issues and look at the training of that and having more student input and putting on a conference. Last week I went to my first academic senate and board meeting and was able to learn a lot about things in regards to academic senate and essentially UCLA is going to have to take around 500 residents and effectively create for the hill to move all the doubles to triples. We want to lobby for more money for the UC system. I had the opportunity to meet with information technology and services to promote wireless internet to hopefully see improvement. I had meetings with Pacific Islander Coalition and I did volunteer day and went to a charter school and dedicate their time for the benefit of others.

E. Student Wellness Commissioner

-Chen states yesterday was healthcoming and I had the chance to go to every location and essentially every event and found it to be successful and UCLA departments.

Unfortunately our night events were cancelled because of unforeseen rain. I have to give credit to those who were there and participating. Besides that hopefully we can continue that. I met with Bruins for Recovery and leadership to provide support for students in recovery at any state. We agreed upon last year to have a mutual desire to work together. I want to talk about the Allofus campaign and that's on social media but feel free to stop by and take a gander. I wanted to talk about allofus in the sense of all of us, from my understanding and involvement for SWC I'm excited and optimistic for this campaign but I have to say im disappointed for the offices at the table. I want to commend the two gen reps but I have to say im a little disappointed in the involvement of the other offices and its allofus.care@gmail.com. I don't want to emphasize the disappointment I want to encourage us to reach out. There's limitations to being a campaign and being an established USAC office at this table. Allofus just completed a very successful recruitment cycle with over 80 people and really rely on each of our offices. SWC has definitely stepped up and spearheaded this project and it's a USAC wide campaign. I wanted to talk about October for Samahang Pilipino Month but also Domestic Violence Awareness month and the events this week put on by Bruin Consent Coalition. I wanted to highlight a certain event which is CARE training to being trained from 5-9 next Tuesday. I encourage everyone at this table to register because it requires an RSVP and take the time to become trained and educated on this campus. Not only am I personally interested but it's an obligation of mine. Another thing is that Active Minds is participating in a national campaign Text Talks and Ask to provide messages on your phone to initiate mental health discussion and pull this up and talk about mental health. If you're on your first date pull this out on vast knowledge of depth of mental health. Besides that, there's a campaign number on the back that will help Active Minds and UCLA fundraise because essentially it's a competition. He's looking into the peer supports network and can't claim this as my own idea because it's been discussed through various administrator office and represent the undergraduate discussion we've started the undergraduate discussion and move forward with that and know this is a good idea. It's a very preliminary stage right now and I have a meeting.

-Khan asks for domestic violence awareness month would you all want to co-program

-Khan states my multicultural committee states that the cultural orgs want to talk about domestic violence and create an event about communities of color and stigma of domestic violence. I'm helping a friend at UCSD about south Asian Muslim men about committees and talking about why are they aren't as quick to admit they're in an abusive relationship. Ill reach out to you.

-Chen really appreciates it and is very open to it and I'll also have Bruin Consent Coalition email you.

-Leontine asks if we can coprogram because they wanted to screen the same film

-Chen states the Hunting Grounds is happening for campus safety week and has been in the works for a long long time and so Bruin Consent Coalition essentially providing an aspect of expertise in establishing a panel. If anything we would like to coprogram and you can contact Hourdequin.

E. Administrative Representative

-Geller states Chen talked about AllofUs to be engaged. Another thing that all offices should be engaged in is campus safety week and I would like to challenge you all to think creatively what your office could bring to that collaboration so the message isn't that one issue isn't promoting issues but it's a topic all of you care about. Another thing is I have to share in other roles and had the opportunity to come to a council meeting and had to interact with Dr. Berky Nelson who has the USAC advisor and we lost Berky Nelson yesterday after a long fight with cancer and there may be some sort of on campus memorial and be sure to the word. He cared deeply about UCLA students about their success and their fight for identity and civil rights. Berky joined UCLA in the 60s as director of the student programming office and was very involved in the civil rights movement and the same sorts of issues and we all share the families loss and remarkable individual and someone who left a legacy. The family for those who were in touch and share the sentiments for his families and friends on his Facebook page.

-Rosen states there needs to be fund allocations.

-Kajikawa moves to table the budget transparency action item.

11-0-0 the budget transparency action is tabled.

VII. Fund Allocations

A. Contingency Programming

-Wong states 9 groups applied. $10,246.07 was required. $5,237.83 requested. $1,962 is recommended. There will be $69,096.00 left in contingency if approved.

Dameron moves to approve contingency allocation of $1,962. Rafalian seconded.

11-0-0 vote has been approved.

B. EVP Travel and Advocacy Grant

-Helder states the new guidelines for bruin defenders for complexity to the program and had fair access and a big publicity campaign. There was a group who needed an emergency allocation for Black Business Student Association this coming Thursday. This exceptional circumstance I allowed them to use the last year travel and advocacy grant for $500.

-Kajikawa asks when bruin defenders will become available

-Helder says 5th week

C. Academic Success Referendum Fund

-Kajikawa stated Pilipino transfer week and there is an expected turnout of 80 and I'm allocating $350, as $300 goes to their facility and $50 to disposable items.

VIII. Old Business

IX. New Business

X. Announcements

-Wong states Friday October 23 there is a funding workshop and all funding directors to students speak about funds.

- Chen states on domestic awareness month flier next week is the opening of the gallery and a visual representation and please be aware about this opening about the week.
- Rafalian states next week is transfer pride week and Tuesday night there's a transfer pride week starting at 6 in Campbell hall and see a bunch of balloons on bruin walk area and make sure you stop by and see what's up.
- Shao states CAC's internship and marketing app is extended to Wednesday
- Leontine says painting for AllofUs.
- Khan states the event going on downstairs will be going on past 9

XI. Signing of the Attendance Sheet

The attendance sheet has been passed around.

- Helder moves to adjourn the meeting. Siegel seconds
- Rosen adjourns the meeting at 8:49pm.
