IV. Public Comment

Ayona: So what I wanted to bring up today is the issue of transfers not receiving equitable consideration when it comes to housing for 2021-2022. It has come to most of the transfer student body's knowledge that sophomores, so this current year's freshmen who are going to be sophomores next year, are going to be prioritized for housing but not our current class of transfers. A lot of transfers from the class of 2022 did not receive a housing, well we were guaranteed our one year of housing and now we're not being prioritized for that anymore for the 2021-2022 academic school year. All I'm asking for is that if UCLA is as equitable, inclusionary, and as diverse that they claim they are for us to be, I just, it just upsets me because I feel like I'm begging for us to be considered for prioritization but also just our validation as Bruins. That's what's really upsetting and that's what's making me trip up on my word. I just want to urge the USAC council that if you are in solidarity with transfer students, you please need to push this issue of making sure that the class of '22 transfers are also being considered for next year's housing. All we're asking for is an equitable experience for all. Thank you.

Lauren: I'm also a part of the class of 2022 transfers and I'm sure other transfers can share their sentiment that we all worked extremely hard to get here and we have less time at UCLA and that I know that a lot of transfers were also sharing the sentiment that like I don't even feel like I go to UCLA, like I go to campus and I feel like fake and like I don't really attend there and I think that by not giving transfers housing and the ability to live on the hill and a guarantee for housing, it's just a really disappointing decision and I think that if UCLA wants to pride itself on being a transfer friendly institution, it needs to listen to transfers and it needs to stick to their word. We were told that we were going to get our guaranteed year of housing, if we didn't get it this year we were gonna get it next year and now that's getting taken away from us. I also want to echo the sentiments that Ayona said, that we really need your solidarity and we really need your support right now, that would mean a lot to us. Thank you.

Herman: Hello, it's good to see you all again. I'm here alongside my fellow transfers in the class of 2022 as well to talk about the issue of housing priority for next year and to really urge council to support the prioritization of returning transfers for housing next year. My peers bring up a really good point that I think transfer students echo. We had nearly 60 transfer students show up to the On-Campus Housing council meeting earlier today, so many transfers are hurting right now and I think it is deeply disturbing that there are students who may graduate without ever being given the opportunity to live on the hill. That, I think, is a heartbreaking thing. You all, as a majority of the students, have spent time on the campus, the amount of envy the transfers have not to have had that experience and the prospects of graduating without that support and experience is really heartbreaking. I hope that you will stand with the class of 2022 transfers in advocating for housing priority for next year and ensuring that administrators recognize that need.

Marc-Anthony: Hello, thank you for the opportunity to speak. I am a class of 2022 transfer. I made my ultimate decision to come to UCLA based on the guarantee that I would receive housing by UCLA admin at Bruin Bam. It was reiterated during Transfer Orientation and during the summer as well. Now they're going back on their promises. Again, I'm spending over $30,000 to be here at UCLA and now we're not even being considered to be on housing. My parents as illegal immigrants don't receive any taxes back, but have been paying taxes for over 30 years in California, and now their only son is not able to get housing at UCLA even though those taxes were going into the universities for over 30 years. So I ask of USAC to please stand in solidarity with us.

Mariah: My name is Mariah, I am also a 2022 transfer student. I would like to speak and just kind of echo the comments of our fellow transfer students. We're going to be seniors next year, and while many of us during the pandemic may not have needed housing this past year because of differing circumstances, for some of us like myself it's even more important that we get it next year which may be different compared to previous years about seniors being prioritized for housing, but for some transfers this will be our first year on campus and we're really going to need housing or our living situations may be kind of up in the air. I would just like to ask USAC to continue to advocate for this issue and speak with administration and make sure that transfers are getting the housing guarantee that we deserve and that we shouldn't be undermined in this process because our access to resources and reliable housing is really important to us as students. I just kind of wanted to echo the other comments made here and just implore USAC to use your voice, use your power to advocate for some of us who aren't able to to kind of leverage that power with administration and wherever to make sure that we have a housing guarantee for next year. Thank you.

VI. Special Presentations

UAEM Open Vaccine Pledge

Subhan

COVID-19 Activism

What are we presenting about today?

FREE THE VACCINE + OPEN COVID PLEDGE

- The Open COVID Pledge aims to make intellectual property related to COVID-19 available free of charge for use in ending the pandemic and minimizing the impact of the disease

How Does UCLA Connect to the Open COVID Pledge?

- 1. UCLA is a research institution and world-class healthcare facility
- 2. It is uniquely positioned to support the fight against COVID-19
- 3. Teams at “UCLA Health and the David Geffen School of Medicine is working to prioritize research and discover life-saving treatments” - this work is only valid if it is accessible to all
- 4. Recent UC-Elsevier deal affirming commitment to open access
- 5. The Open COVID Pledge is a perfect, low-risk opportunity for UCLA to be on the forefront of global development of treatment technologies and vaccine distribution

UAEM Report Card

- 1. Despite UCLA’s esteemed reputation in biomedical research, their report card shows otherwise
- 2. UCLA must improve their commitment to health equity and accessibility to medicine
- 3. Half of universities have made no commitments to equitable COVID-19 biomedical licensing practices, and ZERO have signed the Open Covid Pledge

Why Are We Coming to USAC Specifically?

- We feel as if there is an obligation for student leaders to publicly support a free vaccine
 - Necessity for a free COVID-19 vaccine as all research for it are 100% publicly-funded
 - This will especially benefit marginalized communities that are disproportionately affected by COVID-19
- Increased Outreach
 - Strong social media platforms
- Trusted Leaders
 - You all have strong voices on campus that can enact greater engagement and effective change for this important cause
- Greater Student Attention
 - Leads to UCLA Administration taking notice
 - UCLA signing on or acknowledging the petition sets precedent for other universities to do the same

What We Are Asking of USAC?

- Help us garner traction and support
 - Take part in our social media push
 - Sent into your office messages encouraging your members to individually sign onto the OCP
 - Individually sign on to the OCP yourselves

USAC Seat at the Table Initiative

Harutyun Tatulyan: Hi everyone. Thank you for the invitation, I really appreciate being extended an offer to speak with you all today and for even having this initiative to get to know student organizations more, I really think that this is an effective way to kind of gauge where students are at and student leaders and how they’re interpreting their clubs, especially during these trying times. I’m here to talk to you all about MESA, the Middle Eastern Students Association at UCLA. I am a fourth year philosophy student and the president of MESA this year. This is a new club, we’ve only been around for about one year, we just had our one year anniversary last quarter and it's crazy to think that UCLA didn't have a Middle Eastern mother organization, and you know this had to be brought up pretty recently. I just wanted to talk to you all about some of the initiatives, get MESA on your radar just because we have a lot of great ideas but a lot of it also comes from this communication with USAC and other student leaders just because there's a lot of greater kind of ideas that we have. I'll start by saying that we really have ambitions to be a registered mother organization at UCLA. That's kind of the biggest overarching thing that will kind of take care of all of our other initiatives going on, but we really want to work towards being recognized as a mother organization on campus that represents Middle Eastern and North African students, that kind of takes care of a lot of the authoritative boundaries that come with taking care of different issues and ideas that happen, but other than that I've talked to my board about this and we've all kind of sat together and brought up different ideas. I'll go through some of the initiatives and ideas that we've had. One of them being that we really want to establish moving forward in the coming years, a Middle Eastern North African Student Resource Center. We have noticed that UCSB has a Middle Eastern students center and this is especially helpful because lots of Middle Eastern North African students are first generation students. So the prospects of going through for your education at an esteemed university at UCLA is new to a lot of students so the Middle Eastern Student Resource Center serves as an opportunity for students to connect with campus leaders so that they can gauge a sense of where they belong on campus but also kind of find that cultural assimilation and kind of find their own people and resonate with those identities on campus. I think this kind of idea is a lot more grander and it kind of comes with us being a more recognized club on campus, and like I said we are really new so a lot of these kind of initiatives and ideas that we have planned come with the longevity of us being an existing club on campus, and also just being more in touch with the greater kind of USAC protocols that are happening. One of our members also suggested that we want to advocate for the Muslim Student Association and bringing a better praying space for them just because right now their only option on campus is to pray by the dumpsters behind Kirchoff and in this, the description of their praying space, literally every time we have to describe the praying space to students that are interested the reference point is the dumpsters behind Kirchoff, so this I think serves as a kind of note on why it needs to be improved. It is also quite a small area as well so that's something that our organization wants to advocate for as well. Also another great initiative that we have is that we want to, this I think another really important one that we want to act on as fast as we can but we really think that a separate category for Middle Eastern Students needs to exist for self identifying on all official forms just because Middle Eastern students right now are forced to adopt either white or any other potential ethnic or racial categories that they share so we think that Middle Eastern as a racial category needs to exist on the UCLA forms, it doesn't at the moment as far as I know at least for when I am filling out forms at UCLA. But this is I think a great initiative to kind of voice different Southeast Asian North African students. It allows the campus to kind of identify student needs and different student experiences on campus whether that be through student associations, or they just go through their UCLA experience and never really connect with a cultural organization or cultural identity on campus. I think just the fact that they're able to identify, some identify themselves as Middle Eastern students on the official forms is that first step to bringing Middle Eastern students into their kind of cultural spaces on campus, by showing them that there's a recognized kind of category for them on campus as well. I think this is a lot of great ideas and they're really ambitious but like I said this will come in the coming years, but I really wanted to chat with you all and put the spotlight on our club. It is a new club but we have a lot of great ideas we've, in my opinion, we've had a lot of great events already in the past year. We've had some great panelists and speakers come to talk with us, we just did our first funding app which was a really big deal but we got to experience the pleasure of being funded for events. I really have high prospects for the Middle Eastern students Association at UCLA and I think that putting this on your radar is a great kind of opportunity for future initiatives to be taken more seriously as well. I'd love to kind of chat with you all and maybe other student leaders if they have any ideas for us or if y'all have any questions for me.

Bruin Emergency Fund Referendum*

Riley

What is the BERF Referendum?

- It is a referendum that seeks to ensure the student-ran support of those in crises by increasing student fees by $2 per undergraduate per quarter. This will allow us to establish a USAC Emergency Fund that shall be allocated to students facing emergencies that require financial assistance.

In Other Words

- We are building an emergency funding source by and for students, regardless of system impact, transfer status, guardianship, immigration status, employment, existing aid or any other barrier, so that students have somewhere to collect financial support when facing emergencies, which from late capitalism, to pandemic, to climate crisis, have only been increasing. An emergency fund is necessary, and overdue.

Ballot Information

- “Shall the Undergraduate Students Association ensure the student-run support of those in crises by increasing student fees by $2 dollars per undergraduate student per quarter in order to establish a USAC Emergency Fund that shall be allocated to students facing emergencies that require financial assistance?”

This fee would be collected from all undergraduate students enrolled in Fall, Winter, and Spring.

This fee will be adjusted annually by the Los Angeles County Consumer Price Index in order to address changes due to inflation and rising costs of living, beginning in Fall 2022.

25% of the amount collected will be returned to undergraduate financial aid. “

_____ YES

_____ NO

Breakdown

- To arrive at the fee of $2 each quarter for Fall, Winter and Spring, the Office of the President looked to the 2020 and 2021 Undergraduate Student Association Pandemic Relief funds which allocated $280,000 to 1120 students and $120,600 to 482 students respectively.
- A $2 fee would allow the Undergraduate Student Association Council to allocate around $135,000 annually to students in need with around $45,000 (25% of the fee) returned to Financial Aid to offset the fee increase.

Target Population

- We want this funding body to act as an immediate source of relief inclusive to all undergraduate UCLA students-in-need.
- Regardless of:
 - Immigration status
 - Transfer status
 - System-impact (formerly incarcerated students or students otherwise impacted by incarceration)
 - Guardianship
 - Federal/Financial Aid Eligibility
 - International residency

UCLA Basic Needs

- How does UCLA define basic needs?
 - Safe and secure housing, sufficient and healthful food, peace of mind (i.e. mental health), sleep, transportation, and hygiene (UC BN Housing Report 2020)
- Our definition
 - Basic Needs is defined as students having sufficient resources to be the best version of themselves in order to succeed academically. These resources traditionally refer to food, shelter and clothing, with more recent definitions including sanitation, transportation, child care, sleep, mental health, education, and healthcare access. For the purpose of this report, we discuss basic needs holistically as it relates to higher education.

UCLA: The Uncertainties of the Future

- BERF is not the first of its kind, contrary to popular belief; UCLA is amongst the minority of colleges and universities without a supplemental emergency fund for its students.
- Other Universities with Established Emergency Relief Funds:
 - Carnegie Mellon
 - University of Southern California
 - University of Chicago
 - University of New England
 - University of Texas, Austin
 - University of Michigan
 - Coastline College

- NC State and countless others...

UCLA Financial Needs Assessment Survey

- The Office of the President sought to collect accurate, representative data on the financial needs, especially in light of COVID-19, of current UCLA undergraduates in order to build the foundation for this emergency relief fund. (n=72)

Q: Since October 2020, to what extent have you struggled with financial-related stress or anxiety?

Q: Have you experienced any of the following financial difficulties because of the Coronavirus

- Check all the following
 - I've lost my regular job
 - I've had a reduction in hours or a reduction in income
 - I've had financial difficulties paying rent or mortgage
 - I've had financial difficulties, such as paying bills, affording groceries, etc.
 - I've become uninsured because I cannot afford health insurance

202 University of California Undergraduate Experience Survey: UCLA

- The Office of the President also looked to the "2020 University of California Undergraduate Experience Survey: UCLA" of 7753 students conducted by the UCLA's Student Affairs Information and Research Office.

Q: Are you concerned about any of the following?

- Job loss
- Bills paid
- Basic needs met
- Reliable internet access

UCLA's Center for the Transformation of Schools

- In 2020, the UCLA's Center for the Transformation of Schools found that 5% of University of California students are experiencing homelessness.
- Also, UCLA's Newsroom listed that more than 35% of undergraduates receive Pell Grants, federal aid for students from low-income families.

Testimonials

- The OP Referendum Team researched and read through a number of heart-wrenching testimonials and stories. Some common themes:
 - Unable to pay for rent
 - Working multiple jobs to pay for living expenses
 - Having to take out loans to pay for groceries
 - Uncertain whether they'll be considered for housing
 - Felt shame or at fault for being unable to meet their basic needs
 - Being stressed/mentally exhausted over housing insecurity

BERF & OTHER EXISTING FUNDING SOURCES (A new financial aid support ecosystem)

SWC Basic Needs Subsidy; and other USAC Assistance Funds

- The Basic Needs Subsidy Program is available on a first come, first serve basis and will grant up to $100 for any student who requests a subsidy to fund basic needs items including, but not limited to hygiene products, toiletries, medication, but cannot fund food and groceries. Each student can apply once to this fund.
- SWC works in collaboration with other basic needs programs on campus such as the CPO Food closet and more.
- Other UCAC funds, include IVP Rent Relief Awards, Labcoat Programs, Good Clothes, Good People, and Books for Bruins.

Higher Education Emergency Relief Fund (HEERF)

- The Higher Education Emergency Relief Fund is the name of the fund attached to the CARES Act that brought aid to some students, but 15.8% of the student body are international students.

- The racist and reactionary Trump administration, through HEERF excluded all DACA, International and undocumented students. The US has a long and vile history, one that has continued to carceral target at materially exclude undocumented folks in this country, exacerbating the pandemic for them through the existing conditions that they face (and have historically faced).
- From lack of access to (or otherwise wholly inadequate) healthcare, to weak wage protections, weak legal housing protections, and disproportionately poor working conditions, as well as a lack of vaccine access, undocumented families, and students have faced the brunt of the US system, and the US systems “response” to Covid 19.
- BERF has worked alongside Roy Champawat and ASUCLA to assure that BERF is for all undocumented, international and DACA Bruins, regardless of system impact, guardianship, or other impact.

What Makes BERF Unique?

- BERF is an inclusive initiated fund that provides sustainable year-long monetary relief without affecting an individual’s financial aid. It extends beyond the common basic necessities such as food and housing which are currently addressed by various UCLA programs. However, in effort to provide assistance to a larger percentage of the student population BERF is crucial to ensure the financial needs of all are fulfilled. Since students vote on the referendum, there is collective decision on where the money goes.

Emergency, redefined.

- The truth is that the system as is, is the emergency, people at large are facing intense housing/food insecurity, unemployment, climate crises, incarceration as well as, predatory healthcare/legal systems. As True Bruins, we have the unique powers to alleviate some of these emergencies.

How will the Bruin Emergency Fund allocate emergency funds?

- With a memorandum of understanding we will work with the council to finalize the where, when and who of this funding process in the upcoming weeks, upon council approval.
- Considerations of ours include:
 - Existing distribution programs, such as past COVID Relief Funds and the Basic Needs Subsidy, processed through FSC and SWC respectively.
 - Importance of representation: The Bruin Emergency Fund has already been in communication with Mother Organizations about our referendum and are looking to them and rising institutions like the Congressional Advisory Board to be included in the distribution process.
 - We’re at a moment in political time ripe for radical structural change by and for the students at this university that represents a rejection of the status quo which has harmed, excluded and targeted BIPOC Bruins for generations on this campus. It is time for a richer definition of democracy that is direct and personal, with new systems and funds in touch with the needs of all Bruins from the bottom-up.

Why now?

- Why increase student fees during a pandemic? Why is a referendum the best way to NOW achieve emergency aid? Why student leadership, now?
- These are all questions we have been asked, so
 - The pandemic has only made most salient the harmful, congregate and disproportionate impacts this system has had on communities of color and otherwise marginalized or working class families This system, this government, is predatory, and emergencies inherent to it. At UCLA, we are uniquely empowered with this system of dual governance (which administration often encroaches upon) that can reflect our values instead of the systems. This $2 quarterly fee which 25% of financial aid offsets the impact on the worst off, is the best way to look after our fellow Bruins.
 - This referendum will create funding that is promised, continued and specifically for emergencies as they have historically impacted students and stand to continue. Reallocations of office budgets or surplus are not always promised.
 - Unfortunately, administration as an institution is not us, they often do not reflect our values and they are not elected by the student body, this is why, alongside developing student institutions, we pursue this referendum and richer definitions of democracy.

Thank you.

- Promise motions to approve the addition of the Bruin Emergency Fund Referendum to the ballot, Noe seconds

- By a vote of 13-0-0 the motion passes, BERF Referendum will be added to the ballot
