IV. Public Comment
Velazquez
- Arsh Gupta: “Great, thank you. Good evening, everyone! My name is Arsh Gupta. I serve as your 2020/2021 Undergraduate Representative to your ASUCLA Board of Directors and I also have the honor of serving as the chairman for the board this year. So it's good to be back and be talking to you all. I am here to share an exciting opportunity within the Undergraduate Student Association that was shared to the board that could be extremely beneficial and was also requested to be shared by us to the Undergraduate Network. So something that is really bad is the people that come to USAC together despite our different backgrounds and inner diversity that we find is the fact that each one of us has some kind of big idea that we want to implement some change that we want to propose and affect the community. And that is exactly why I am here to share the Big Ideas Contest which is an innovation contest by the Rudd Family Foundation that provides training networks, recognition and funding to interdisciplinary teams of students who have transformative solutions to real world problems. And with this contest, students have the opportunity to win up to $20,000 for their idea that has some direct social impact. So, the board feels like this opportunity could be extremely beneficial to UCLA undergraduate students and in that spirit I would like to go ahead and share information about this thing in the chat. Over there you can find a bunch of useful links and my contact information along with the general contact information for the ASUCLA Board of Directors should you like to contact us with any questions or concerns or ideas about what I am sharing. That is all, thank you so much for having me and I hope you all have a great Week 6.”

- Public comment concludes at 7:11pm.

- Herman moves to reopen public comment, Monimah seconds.
- By vote of 13-0-0, the motion passes and public comment is reopened.
Eliza Aiken: “Thank you, I just wanted to come here and say that the current proposals by student leaders paying their directors seems a bit ridiculous. While it is important to pay your staff, I think it's overkill to say some offices are having 20 plus directors in their offices. I'd like to refer to the Webster Dictionary on defining a director. A director is a person who is in charge of an activity, department, or organization. And I doubt any office has more than 20 people in charge of others or more than 20 platforms that they are working on at a time, much less 54. USAC should remember that transparency and honesty is important when dealing with the budget, plans should be changed to reflect so. Thank you.”

Nicola Sassone: “I'm sorry for coming a little late but thank you for having me on. I guess I just wanted to say as a director myself. I'm a student director under Carl, the General Representative 3. I do hope that some of the directors are able to be paid because I feel like directors really do put a lot of time and devoting time to this. And especially for the directors that are working part time, which I'm doing as well, it would really help alleviate that a little bit.”

Samantha Schwartz: “Hi everyone, hope you're doing well. Sorry if I cut out a little, my internet is doing bad right now. But I wanted to speak on behalf of the office of the president from a staff and director perspective. I know there might be concerns about how many directors we have and I just wanted to clarify on what we are trying to accomplish with the structure that we have. This year, we have a lot of people leading initiatives on their own right now who are hiring staff within the coming week. And so what has been mentioned before, people do work and have financial needs and so they really need to be paid for the labor that they are contributing so we hope this can quell some of the confusion or perhaps resistance because we do have several different initiatives. Each requires their own directorship and so that's why we have lots of directors. But it still is not any different from the offices of the president in years past. I can attest to the office of the president of last year and the year before. So hopefully that can alleviate some of the resistance.”

Mohammed Mortada: “Hello everyone, my name is Mohammed and I am Breeze’s Chief of Staff and I just wanted to reiterate what Samantha just said. A lot of students have applied this year to join OP and I'm pretty sure everyone in this meeting knows the importance of this office as it essentially represents the student body. And these students have definitely joined to help represent the student body and ensure that their needs are met and they have put hours and hours of work to ensure that the student body gets what it needs. And of course, this is only Week 6, they have more weeks this quarter and they are going to have 20 more weeks for the two other quarters. And it is very essential for UCLA and USAC to appreciate their work and provide them with the stipends that they deserve. And once again, I really appreciate everyone during this meeting and I know everyone is committed to public service in this meeting. So I'm sure everyone understands what we're advocating for. Thank you.”

Public comment concludes at 7:21pm.

- George: “Hi everyone, glad to see you all this Tuesday. Quick updates. We are having an Alumni Association board meeting this Saturday. Quick Question, Breeze will you be joining us in person or virtually? And another news but Patricia Rin who was our senior director of Alumni Diversity Affairs of Alumni Association has gotten a huge promotion. She is going to be working with UCOP the UC Office of Presidents to really be working on to align strategies of all 10 campuses when it comes to that engagement. So that is a really big thing, a really big promotion, we are going to miss her a lot at the Alumni Association. But with change, comes opportunities and our assistant director, David Sun, is now acting as our director for Alumni Diversity Affairs and Programs. Good news and any other questions about Alumni Diversity Affairs can be directed to David and if you know Patricia, send her a congratulatory email or message and with that, that's it on my end.”

IX. Old Business

X. New Business

USAC Surplus

a. FSC Lab Coat Expansion Proposal* Yu

- $5,000 from Round 1 of Surplus to purchase roughly 80 lab coats.
- The average market price of a lab coat is approximately $61.98. (Source: Bulwark Protection, Amazon, Safety Supply America, Direct Textile Store)
- The approximate quantity we could purchase would be 80 lab coats.
  The fund can also fortify higher sizes of lab coats.
- Received 128 responses from students
- 61 of them indicated that they needed a lab coat.
- It means nearly every 1 out of 2 students from the responses would need to rent a lab coat from FSC.
- Additionally, after running out of lab coats, we immediately notified students that we were out of stock; thus, more than 61 students would have indicated their need for a lab coat if we hadn’t run out so early.
- The demand for lab coats is significantly high.
- Create a rental contract with students. If they don’t return, we can put a hold on their accounts. We have discussed this with SGA to ensure we can draft such a contract.
- Increase publicity efforts on different social media platforms, department listservs, Bruinwalk, and USAC pages.

Tabled for next agenda.

b. FAC Transportation, Equity & Access: Universal Transit Proposal

- Number of commuter students living in the Greater Los Angeles area utilize public transportation, specifically, buses to commute to campus
- Yet, this creates an additional financial burden that makes public transit inaccessible to this student population
- Currently, there are no universal transit pass available to undergraduate students
- Students commute from all over the county through a variety of bus lines.
- Current student-discounted Metro prices: $129 for a 90-day pass

- $3000 from surplus funds to sponsor Metro passes for 23 commuter students on a needs-based basis
- Why:
  - Additional financial strain for students having to commute to campus
  - Rising prices of gas have already placed another strain on commuter students which may cause those who drove to campus in the past to shift to a more affordable alternative
  - Commuter students already pay an additional time cost by commuting via public transit
- How can it help UCLA students?
  - Make education more accessible and affordable
  - Alleviate financial stress and barriers to academic achievement
  - Encourages a more sustainable form of transportation
- Create an application process on a rolling-basis that showcases the students needs for the transit pass, based on:
  - Usage of transit frequency
  - Commuting time
  - Financial need
- Distribution channels:
  - First Year Experience
  - BruinHub, cityLAB
  - Bruin Commuter Students Association
  - FAC’s Transportation, Equity, and Access Project

- Tabled for next agenda

c. OSAC x FiCom Storage Proposal

- Our ask to fund off campus storage is $20,000
- This would fund 4-10 storage spaces for one year, for between $100-$700 a month
  - Small 5’X5’ Storage Units ~ $85/mo
  - Medium 10’x10’ Storage Units ~ $275/mo
  - Large 10’x30’ Storage Units ~ $700/mo
- This funding will go towards beginning consistent funding for off campus storage space for student organizations
- Once need has been established this year, OSAC hopes to expand the program to support more student organizations
- Applications would be identical to Office Space Allocation Applications, except organizations would need to reapply each year
- OSAC will select X number of organizations to receive funding for one year
- Student organizations do not need to have office space to qualify for off campus storage
- Student organizations will have to demonstrate need for off campus storage in their applications by explaining
  - events put on by student organization
  - where items are currently being stored
  - how, overall, off campus storage would support their organization’s needs
- In addition to filling out the rest of the Office Space Allocation Application
Need From Student Organizations:

- 5 student organizations with offices in Kerckhoff have expressed interest in off campus storage
- OSAC predicts that the number of orgs who will apply will be much higher, because of promotion of the Space Allocation Application and the number of student organizations who require space on campus
- Off campus storage space funding will support student organizations in that it allows them to properly store and maintain their items and it alleviates a major financial burden on student organizations
- This funding will largely support MOs and other organizations who put on large programs every quarter
- Providing for off campus storage will further OSAC’s goal of making Kerckhoff into a community center as opposed to a storage facility

Testimony:

- HOOLIGAN has been around UCLA’s campus for the past 17 years, providing access to educational and professional level theater for all majors. In doing so, such an accumulation of props, costumes, set pieces, and materials has required us to self-fund offsite storage at Extra Storage Space (since UCLA does not offer student organizations any sort of storage onsite). Funding from UCLA would help to subsidize or cover these high costs, as they are absolutely vital to ensure HOOLIGAN maintains sustainability in both a financial and environmental sense.
- Currently, Samahang Pilipino organization uses our office space as a storage facility due to our lack of space otherwise. Samahang is a huge organization, consisting of 5 entities and ~200 general members. Given the current state of room bookings and numerous rules that prohibit us from booking rooms for all of our entities' needs, a separate space where we can store our cultural night items, general supplies, and historical artifacts can allow us to use our meeting space for its original purpose.
- United Khmer Students would love storage space on campus as we have been passing down items for our Culture Night to club members to store in their apartments and it is just a hassle. As a small club on campus and not many Cambodian Americans at UCLA, I think we deserve to have this as UCLA always talks about its diversity and have even re-posted us on their official pages yet we have no support on things such as this. I know UCLA can make this space easily if they really wanted to.

- Tabled for next agenda.

- Office of IVP:

  - Our directors are at the forefront of our work that's ahead of us. They're student leaders with a combination of the following identities: first generation, low-income, and students of color. - Directors: 25 staff/$350 a year
- Total Ask: $10,100

General Representative 1:
- The executive chief of staff and directors in the office are crucial components to the success of the office. USAC Officers would not be able to carry out the platforms and initiatives that the student body voted on without the time and labor of our directors. The directors and executives within our office each offer unique lived experiences and backgrounds that drive their passions to carry out the work for their directorships, and their leadership cannot go uncompensated.
- Chief of Staff (2):
  - Internal & External

- Labor Reasons: GR2 office is run like a small academic research group, in terms of management styles. Directors and execs work ~10 hours per week.
- Executives: 6 staff/ $540 a year
- Total Ask: $3,240

General Representative 3:
- We should set aside 13% of the current surplus to allow organizations to have the opportunity to request surplus. We should take the remaining portion and split it equally amongst offices to ensure equitable distribution. This will allow for a fair split of the funds so that we all can pay directors and executive in our offices as discussed. This process is thought out with the same intentions that are being used to fund officer stipends which is equity amongst offices. I am also open to paying bigger offices i.e. OP, FAC, IVP more with the understanding that they have bigger offices but not in a manner that overwhelms most of the funds from other offices.

  - Executives: 3 staff/ $405 a year
  - Directors: 8 staff/ $315 a year
  - Total Ask: $3,735

- Transfer Student Representative:
  - The Transfer Student Representative’s office represents the transfer student body, who constitute an estimated one-third of undergraduate students at UCLA. We advocate for accessibility and inclusion for transfer students across UCLA, the UC system, and within local, state, and federal politics.

- Paying our Executive Board is critical to compensate for the work Directors and Chiefs of Staff undertake to support our elected TSR. As we serve and represent transfer students, a diverse group which faces unique challenges, not being fairly compensated is a barrier to access for students from marginalized communities who cannot afford to work for no or low pay.

- Students in the TSR office advocate for transfers present and future to be included in all spaces on campus. With only two years at the university to effect change, many of our directors will not be at the university long enough to see the fruits of their advocacy and labor. Financial compensation allows us to recognize the amount of effort that transfer students put in this short amount of time.

- Goals:
  - True Bruin Transfer Experience - provide transfers with a secure return to in-person learning, a vibrant social life, and overall True Bruin experience.
  - Elevate Transfer Voices - center transfer experiences through developing allyship initiatives, transfer leadership outside of the Transfer Triad, and overall UC reform to make the needs of transfer students heard.

  - On average, USAC officers get about $10 000. Most of the low-level grassroots work is undertaken by the various members in the office, without whom the USAC officer would be able to do very little. Thus, the stipend acts as a reasonable level of compensation for those that do good work in the office.

Discussion about Surplus Proposal:

- If possible, choose to do UCLA Store gift card or deposit to bruincard- more efficient and makes process easier
- Honorarium process is very complicated and usually only used for a performance or a speaker (usually is pay for an event or program) High volume of paperwork- not something that we can sustain
- Breeze is interested in looking into other options (gift cards- Amazon, Target, Ralphs) that don't require the paperwork
- Discussed the disparity and differences in stipend amounts between offices.
- Angie said that Jessica mentioned that honorariums would be more paperwork-asking if office staff can help with the paperwork?
- Jessica said that it's not the paperwork that would be a problem, it's the syncing of data in the system that is a lot of work. The staff have already done the paperwork. High volume of stuff for SGA to process (last year there wasn't a lot of work for SGA to do so it was possible but this year is different as everything is almost back to normal)
- Discussion will happen next week once everyone has had a chance to present their proposals.
- Passa saying that we should have preliminary discussion about how they are going
- Emily thinks that prioritizing the directors and executives to be paid and that was how she came about her projections for the stipends. Everyone else should be paid based on what they are putting in instead of making it equal among the offices.
- Discussion on whether offices should be paid equal because all council members are paid equally (following the same precedent) or paying offices based on how many people they have and how much work they are putting in because some offices are just working on more things than others.
- Passa thinks that trying to argue over what a director is ridiculous, thinks that everyone in all of our offices work very hard and contribute substantially to the projects the offices are working on
- Herman proposes a range (paying between 200-300) for directors and the smaller offices can have more wiggle room to pay higher; Discussed how uncomfortable he would be paying directors a vast difference they are public servants
- Talked about standardizing how they present money to the directors (having a form of payment that the directors can decide on how they want to spend it so they can use it for their basic needs)
- Carl thought that following the precedent that has been set and that among all offices there is a core amount of people
- Carl is worried that the directors that are working under the officers are not even making 15% of what the officers make and he is worried that the student body will see this a problem.
- Herman spoke about how giving money to their directors not only is money but also sends a message to them that their work is appreciated and the money that they are paid is coming from student funds.
- Discussion will continue offline and next week at the meeting.
